

Organic Production Survey

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is conducting the first-ever Organic Production Survey as a follow-up to the 2007 Census of Agriculture. Highlighting the changing face of agriculture, the Census showed 20,437 U.S. farms engaged in organic production. This survey will give those organic producers an opportunity to share their voices and help ensure the continued growth and sustainability of organic farming. By participating in the Organic Production Survey, producers will be providing valuable information that will help improve production methods, marketing tactics and plans for the future of the organic industry.

Look for the Organic Production Survey in your mailbox this May. As with the Census of Agriculture, the Organic Production Survey is your voice, your future and your responsibility.
